Research Tools
At MRSC.org, you can explore a wide variety of local government issues, obtain practical guidance through online publications (e.g., handbooks, reports), easily find information on court decisions and state statutes, and access an extensive collection of local government reference and example documents to see what others are doing and how they’re doing it.

Timely Information
By signing up to their popular e-newsletters or following the MRSC Insight Blog you can stay informed about the most important emerging issues and featured practices for local governments in Washington.

Training Opportunities
MRSC webinars are a great way to get trained without leaving your desk. MRSC staff consultants team up with leading governance professionals to offer interactive discussions about various topics. Check their website regularly to review past webinars or sign up for upcoming training offerings.

MRSC in Action Across Washington

“[Without MRSC] we would be spending a lot more time and money on research. Money that would take away from other duties and responsibilities of our staff.”

Steven Linhart
Long Beach City Council

“[MRSC] has helped me and our City Council to assure compliance with regulations and avoid costly legal actions.”

Hank Myers
Redmond City Council

“We use MRSC resources on a daily basis - everything from publications to inquiries on the web to calling up experts for answers to emerging issues.”

Tom Trulove
Mayor of Cheney

“[MRSC provides] vital legal advice that keeps us out of multiple law suits as well as helping us develop appropriate local ordinances and meeting state requirements.”

Roger Wentz
Mayor of Union Gap

“[MRSC] has helped me and our City Council to assure compliance with regulations and avoid costly legal actions.”

Julianna Griffin
